

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a rolling element retainer, which was a combination that make up of the partition and the link-ring. The characteristic of the rolling element retainer was that has the rotatable
5 structure, which uses the cooperation of ring and trough, therefore can enhance the function of the rolling element retainer to turn up-down and left-right.